

Paul Morrin

Paul Morrin is Director Eurostat E (Sectoral and Regional statistics) since February 2026 with responsibility for statistics about environment, climate, energy, transport, agriculture and land.

Paul has 32 years of previous experience as a statistician in the Irish civil service having worked in business statistics, macro-economic statistics, social statistics and environment statistics. He worked in the Central Statistics Office (CSO) and the Department of Social Protection. His last role was Assistant Director-General for Statistical Coordination in CSO, which had responsibility for CSO's external liaison with the public service, and included responsibility for environment and sustainability statistics. Paul has a university degree in economics from Trinity College Dublin, a masters in finance from Dublin City University and a PhD in economics from Maynooth University.

